Here are my comments - we can talk tomorrow. Basically it negates the whole science of exposure assessment and our risk management approach.

Dana: Brazil has proposed using the hazard based approach to pesticide registration (the English version is attached). We have been asked to comment on the draft US response (attached file dated 12-8-15).

With Bill gone and Daniella recused, I am trying to determine if we had provided comments previously or if we are OK with the response. If no one in HED has reviewed it, could someone look it over to see if we need any changes? From my non-technical perspective it looks OK, but there may be a technical perspective missing--?

The problem is that we are overdue, and they are asking for us to concur or provide changes by this Friday, 29 Jan. Is there anyone who could look it over –focusing on the response (not the entire Brazilian proposal). Pls let me know. Thanks.

Patty,

I am recused and cannot follow up with Janet. However, we asked for an extension of 60 days which was granted. We also drafted comments which were circulated to OPP approximately a month ago. We have not submitted them as we are still within our deadline for comments. If OPP has comments, please send them to Marielsie on cc. I wish I could be more helpful, but I am very limited on what I am allowed to do right now.

Daniella. Was FAS going to provide comments from the US govt on this? Not sure what the expectation was for further input or if anything else is needed from OPP. Do we have some standard language that we have used in the past to express our concerns with the hazard approach when this has come up previously?

We are reaching out to our NAFTA colleagues in Mexico to see if they have had any interaction with Brazil on this proposal.

Also, Janet Collins from CLA called me to ask what we have done in response to this. Are you following up w CLA, as you had initially spoken to them about this? Pls let me know. Thanks

Bill,

I just met with CLA and we discussed several issues.

First, are you familiar with concerns about Brazil adopting a hazard-based toxicological approach to pesticide management? I had not seen this but am looking into it.

Second, I would like to set up a meeting with OPP and CLA to discuss this, NAFTA, and Codex among other things. Are there dates that work for OPP?

I've also attached the translation of the Brazilian proposed regulation that we have been working from. I still haven't figured out who did the translation (industry or Brazilian government). I need to do a bit more checking before sharing the CropLife draft

Dear Euros and Joan,

We have just received a new WTO TBT notification from Brazil (see enclosed). According to the short content description, this concerns the following:

Draft Technical Resolution n° 87, 2 October 2015, regarding the pesticides' toxicological evaluation and classification, labels and leaflets, and the procedure to post-register alteration.

This Resolution establishes the requirements and criteria to toxicological evaluation and classification, risk evaluation, the toxicological information in labels and leaflets, besides the procedures of pesticides' post-register alteration, its components and wood preservers in ANVISA's regulation.

Have you been alerted by some of your members about this? In any case, don't hesitate to share your concerns with us, if any.

Kind regards,

Benjamin
